I also just posted my first also. I assumed that this (ABS) was spinning new content off off existing sites! Not exact copies of other blogs. How is this not copy right Infringement?

If you are using RSS this could be an issue depending on the feed although difficult to detect when using translation say from english to spanish and back to english. I'm using 100% PLR (private label rights) articles, just to be completely above board.

This is strait forward, copying the tutorial as is. I'm trying to keep this as simple as possible. No matter what I do, I cant bring up the count for the site I'm trying to feed off of. I would like to know if that site(RSS feeder) post's every day. Then il will use them for my feed. I can't afford to take a chance on my first few blogs. This is why I purchased this product. It was supposed ti be simple.

 Been have issues of all sort's for a week now and I have been working them out on my own loosing valuable time in the process.

so any help is welcome as I'm on the verge of returning this. I also thought this product spun new article's. Not copy others word for word. I don't know how this is not illegal.

Thanks Steve

The software doesn't spin in the actual sense the way a spinner does, i.e replace specific words with others. The way you create unique content is with the translation function. You can add as many translations as you like, ex: German to French to Italian to Spanish to English.

If your original rss feed was in English, with this many translations it will definitely look completely different than what you started with giving you completely unique content.

If you are worried about copyright violations, just take a bit more time and locate feeds that don't have copyright restrictions.

As far as getting the count . . . I'm afraid I'll have to leave that to someone who has more experience with the program.

Thanks who ever replied! So I tofully got this wrong. We have to cover ourselves on any English feeds (which is all I intended on using). So is this a set it and forget it system as advertised? Do I need to reset articles I post in English.

 Do I have to upload in german and translate to English? Can someome contact me and tell me exactly what's going on with Auto Blog Samurai?

Thanks Steve   Stevenjmancini@gmail.com

PS Suddenly this seems like every other product. All I want is the Truth!What do I have here?
