

What Language Works Best?

Posted by shortcirk - 2010/06/09 18:17

When using the translate from English to something to English what gives the best results as far as keeping the content making sense.

I am also getting the tags from the rss feed, like and such, then when posted on my blog it looks terrible with the tags showing and everything jumbled together..

Import plr articles works great and other tags should automatically be replaced with line breaks and paragraphs. Maybe it is with the theme you use? Heard the same with thesis theme. Check it out with a different theme and tell me how it is.

Regarding the translation, using multiple levels may always reduce the readability a bit. The best way I suggest is to use a single level of translation. Meaning, use Google' translated search feature (http://www.google.com/translate_s) and find feeds in foreign language, then translate them once to English or your desired language so the content is of high quality and 100% unique.

Carty..
