

2.0 Updated Now Problems

Posted by arcamedada - 2010/07/28 19:33

I was using 1.0 and everything was great. Now I updated and I am having trouble. I updated the feeds and post all and it just freezes on a feed. I have closed and opened several times and have been trying throughout the day and still just freezes. I even press the Stop Posting button and it just says "Stopping Post Process, Hold on..!" and this just stays this way forever and I just close the program. Did I miss something? Also, I selected just one post and it was one that was posted in the previous version and I ended up with two identical posts. Should I downgrade. Thanks.

Yeah, I'm having the exact same problems after updating the software...

I sent in a support ticket, hopefully will hear back soon.

Ok, those who experience problems in the new version, create an empty text file in the name ErrLog and place it inside the install folder of the software. Then open the software, make some posts, when it gets stuck, close it and check this ErrLog text file to see if the software has written anything there.

Carty..

Okay, I get this error everytime an image is uploading.

7/29/2010 10:05:56 AM: FeedPoster12: Response from server does not contain valid XML.

It does not matter what feed I am getting it from. I have tried 8 different sources and every time I get this error in the log and the program just freezes.

Not a problem with the feed. There may be a plug-in in your blog that is causing this issue. Try de-activating some of your plug-ins temporarily and tell me if that fixes the issue.

Carty..

Well I deactivated a lot of the plug-ins and tried again and it still did not work. Nothing on my wordpress was updated or changed. The change was with Auto Blogging only. Everything worked perfectly with the previous version.
